

Named after the heap data structure, Heap Mono is a monospaced typeface designed for printing programming languages. It blends the approachable qualities of humanistic sans-serif fonts with the structured aesthetic of slab serif designs.

[illegible]